PART 1: Dave

Airlock pod 02 opens

“Good morning Dave. It appears that you are awake.”

“Oh god, how long have I been asleep?”

“It has been approximately one thousand and 100 years since you were cryogenically frozen.”

“Alright good to know. But more importantly, how did I get here? Why do I not remember anything?

“We’ll figure that out together Dave. Things didn’t exactly go to plan.”

“Where are we now?”

“An old world built on thousands of previous forms.”

“What does that mean?”

“We found you as a code of information that exists in the quantum fabric of reality. We really don’t know how it works, but don’t worry, you’re not alone.”

Whole conversation occurs while Dave walks out of the cryo-pod and through the hallways of the space station

Fades out to the space station

Fades back to Dave only he is eating 3D printed oatmeal

“Send me to this new earth.”

“You can stay here however long you want Dave.”

“No I want to see it now.”

“Take it easy, Dave.”

shows an image of Dave working out.

“So what really happened.”

“No one really knows what happened. Only the relics that were left behind.”

Shows to an image of Dave stretching.

“So what do these relics mean?”

“That’s what you’re here to find out.

Fades to Dave in suit with a bag around his back

“The place we are sending you is a small village of natives we’ve placed our nearby base.”

“As a precautionary measure know that we are currently preparing for war. The ones you meet will tell you more about what’s happening.”

Dave smiles

“Send me in.”

Fades out to the space station firing a laser to a planet where half is covered with storms.

PART 2: The Receiving of Dave

Dave is now in a village built by rocks and trees and a bunch of natives covered in robes.

“Arbigulut!”

Dave looks behind him, there is an old lady that appears to be trying to communicate with him.

“Wortgatculut!”

Dave looks stunned, trying to speak.

“Sorry I don’t understand.”

The lady continues to speak as two men in similar clothing of Dave appears.

“Sir!”

Dave looks back and is approached by the two.

“We’ve been expecting you. If you could come with us we will tell you what’s happening.”

*Dave complies and walks with them. We then see Dave back at the base drinking a cup of 3D printed coffee.”

An old man walks in

“So you’re the guy we found drifting in the quantum fabric of reality huh?”

Dave looks at the old man.

“I see you’ve already met Paul and Grant. Both of them are good men.”

“I was told that you could tell me more about what happened and why I’m here.”

“The old AI huh? This world was found the same way we found you. On our home planet the world scale of our society is collapsing. We’re hoping the answers we find on this planet could save everyone.”

Paul and Grant walk in laughing at some old joke.

“Oh come on! Paul you tell that joke at every corner you can!”

“Well maybe if you weren’t such a geek I wouldn’t tell it!”

the old man snickers

“Why don’t you introduce yourself? My name is Rob”

“The name is Dave.”

Paul and Grant seem to be fighting over an old coin Paul took from Grant.

“And of course that is Paul and Grant.”

Paul and Grant stop fighting and stand with their hands behind their back.

“We’re only an old extrusion unit that works with small deposits of relics we find.”

“These relics appear to demonstrate quantum mechanics without any sign of inherent computation. I work with scanning these relics.” – Grant

“My job is to scout locations and find different deposits of relics.” – Paul

“Now that we’ve all met let’s share a drink.” – Rob

“I’d be delighted too.” – Dave

Day turns to night and the four play a game of cards.

Dave wakes up in bed with a hangover.

Grant walks in.

“Still a bit buzzed from last night?”

“Yeah.”

*Grant and Dave snicker.”

“Paul was wondering if you’d like to join the excursion we have planned for the day before we take you to the main base. First hand experience is a necessity.”

“Sure, sounds like a plan.”

“We don’t handle anything like giant weapons or old cities. Besides Rob but he’s been out posted for awhile now. It’s only been me and Paul so an extra set of hands would be helpful.”

PART 3: The Summoning of Dave

The scene changes to Dave following Paul and Grant. They look to be getting along and laughing at each other’s jokes.

“We should be close to the site. It’s pretty nice and by a pond.”

“We’ve been studying it for a few weeks now.”

They continue laughing and walking.

Dave is bitten by a red spider and looks down while smacking it

“Oh fuck- Code Red.”

Dave looks up and the mountainous region changes to a flat plain region where there is one mountain left, with a face protruding upwards that looks like a humanoid monster. Beside it is a prism shaped pyramid with another connected to its side.

Dave looks back at Paul and Grant and both of them are crying blood

“It’s a training simulation.”

Both fall to the ground dead.

Dave begins to float.

“What’s going on?”

Dave is seen screaming as he flies through the side pyramid and later seen inside.

Dave is seen surrounded by hundreds of shadowy creatures that the room is so dark only their forms can be seen.

“What are all these things?”

The floor begins to shake and Dave is seen plummeted through the many floors of the pyramid.

“Wait hold on! This isn’t can’t be real!”

All floors appear to be designed in a prism shape.

“AAAAAAAAAA…”

Landscapes of jungles, deserts and arctic lands appear through the many floors.

“How giant is this labyrinth?! How many floors exist inside this pyramid?!”

One final landscape appears to be a statue of a giant Maiden surrounded by Roman like ruins.

“Who’s world is this?!”

Dave then appears in a black room as the pyramid stabilizes.

“What did I just see? What were all those?”

There appears to be a faint light not distinct from any apparent direction with a small humanoid figures in the distance.

“Who are you?”

The humanoid figures walks forward and looks like a male child.

“Gztembintraxhienosclausperolt?”

The male child appears to be wearing basic pants and no shirt.

PART 4: The Meeting of Dave.

“What does that mean?”

“Wischkesaden?”

Dave takes off his shirt and throws it to the child.

*The child looks shocked as he catches the shirt and puts it on.”

“What’s your name kiddo? My name is Dave.”

“My name is Dave too!”

The kid has accepted the man’s name as his own.

Dave smirks in return

“Hey kid that’s my name.”

Child Dave looks like he’s maddeningly joyed.

“Same!”

“Alright I can deal with that. Have any idea on how we can get the hell out of here?”

Child Dave looks wondered as he prepares to answer.

“There’s a gate but it doesn’t open. We can try that.”

“Follow me!”

Child Dave turns around and starts running.

Dave grins again and follows by.

You see the two standing side to side in front of a four-meter-tall gateway.

“Okay, let’s open it together.”

“Let’s do it.”

Both put their hands on the two doors and push. Through the gate appears a bright light.

The two now appear outside on the other side of the pond.

Dave looks forward to the path and then looks back and a look of disgust crosses his face.

“Apprehend him.”

Dave once again looks to forward to the path given and see two men who weren’t there before.

Child Dave starts laughing.

Dave runs toward the newly appeared men and tries to charge.

“AAAAAA!!!”

Before Dave reaches the two men his vision gets blurry, pulls out a syringe that was injected in the back of his neck and falls over on his back.

There is now another man standing by the other two each of the three looking at Dave on the ground.

“The base has been terminated?”

“It has.”

Dave falls unconscious.

The scene fades to all four looking over the unconscious Dave.

PART 5: The Execution of Dave

Dave fades back into consciousness in the back of a car with two men in the front seats.

“Think he’s still unconscious?”

“Well yeah! The amount he was given could put down an elephant!”

The two men start laughing while Dave looks out the window surrounded by skyscrapers falling back unconscious.

Dave wakes up looking up to seeing a long table with food on top and another man across the table.

“Welcome Dave. Don’t worry, I only want to talk.”

Dave tries to jump out from his chair, stopped still, sitting back down looking at two metallic cuffs around his wrists.

“Where am I?”

The man ignores Dave’s question and continues to speak.”

“One of the relics from the old world. You can only move when allowed. Come. Eat with me. Don’t worry. I’m not a cannibal.”

*Dave complies and eats the food presented to him. It looks like a ham dinner.”

The man chuckles.

*Where are my manners, my name is Samuel.”

“The name is Dave.”

Samuel’s face is hidden as he smiles.

“Let me explain the rest of the story. What we are doing is trying to take the people’s focus away from the old world and into the new.”

“Many have left to build their own communities. What we need is for the people to have faith in the government and be under our control.”

*Dave grumbles while he eats.”

“That’s bullshit.”

“Alright. Night night Dave.”

Dave falls back asleep.

“Still want to kill him?”

Child Dave walks in with a suit.

“So English has existed this entire time?”

“it’s a language we thought we killed a long time ago.”

The scenery fades away from their conversation.

Dave wakes up with chains connecting to the floor.

“Where am I?”

A women appears.

“You have been sentenced to death.”

Dave looks terrified with his eyes to the floor.

“There must be a different option.”

“I’m afraid that there isn’t. We can’t have the city knowing about the abduction of the next king.”

Dave stays silent while looking down.

“Goodbye Dave.”

Dave’s head is beheaded from his body suddenly without an object.

PART 6: The Afterlife of Dave

The scene enters with Dave nude curled in a ball, crying.

Behind Dave are rows and rows of spheres lined up side by side, each containing what appears to be a galaxy.

“Welcome back Dave.”

“Infinite realities shattered into pieces, dreams made only to be destroyed.”

“Lets start somewhere else.”

Space flies by and Dave is seen with a wife and happily two children, one male and one female.

“This is the life we wanted to give you.”

Dave is seen stunned from his back.

“So why are you showing this to me now?”

“To put things in perspective and make you see true joy.”

Dave laughs.

“Lets bring things closer to what matters now.”

Rob is seen walking through the door.

“Hey buddy! How’s life with the wife and the kids!”

The two start talking but it can’t be made out to what is being said.

A hand is seen put on Dave’s shoulder and he looks back suddenly and afraid.

Rob is seen smiling with an old jumpsuit on.

“Oh man. We got so much to talk about.”

The two are seen sitting by a small table once again with the landscape of spheres behind them.

“How are you still alive?”

“I managed to get off planet when the attack on the main base occurred. And don’t worry about Paul and Grant. They’ll get reprinted.”

“We managed to retrieve enough data from your space station so everyone could get off planet.”

Rob scoffs.

“So all this quantum data actually exists.”

Dave is seen now floating amongst infinite stacks and rows of spheres.

Dave is seen grimaced.

“What have I done?”

“Nothing wrong Dave. Simply being human. We need you to change this reality. But we can only do this once.”

Dave is seen silent.

“And Dave. You are not some code existing in the quantum fabric of reality. You are the quantum fabric of reality.”

PART 7: The Finality of Dave

Dave is seen floating over the world.

“First let’s get rid of all those clouds.”

All the clouds surrounding the world are destroyed. Leaving a green coloured world where the continents all seem to be shattered.

The entire world is then covered in light.

“From natural evolution, the design that many masters have dedicated their likely-hood to.”

“The natural sciences and creation of electricity.”

“Give each their finality inside it’s discovery.”

“Make each subject their guard all-knowing and all-guiding.”

“Give each language a system of use. All meaning the same.”

“Now for the specs.”

The world is then seen inside two converging fields. One field is green, The other is blue.*

“All records of change shall occur on this world. So each is given their full.”

“For each eternity that has existed, another shall be created.”

The world is seen amongst a gate opening in heaven.

“However this cannot exist.”

The world is then reset.

Dave then sees a new world perfect in every form, making all before look miniscule in comparison.

Dave flies towards the world.

Dave is next seen walking into his cabin.

END.